Posebna baka

NORTHERN ENGLAND

Zachary MARCH 2001 has an infectious smile and often giggles. He has an even-tempered nature, with a good sense of humour. Zachary is a loving, affectionate child who likes being tickled and enjoys playing, particularly with musical toys. He is sociable and takes pleasure in being in the company of other children. Zachary can have tantrums at times and makes it clear when he is unhappy or does not want to engage with others.

Zachary has cerebral palsy affecting all four limbs. He plays with toys lying on his side and moves by shuffling and rolling around. Zachary currently needs a specialist buggy and is likely to need a wheelchair in the future. Home adaptations may also be required as he grows and his needs change. Zachary has marked delay in all areas of his development, although he continues to make progress. It is thought he may have some learning difficulties, the extent of which is currently unknown. He usually wears glasses.

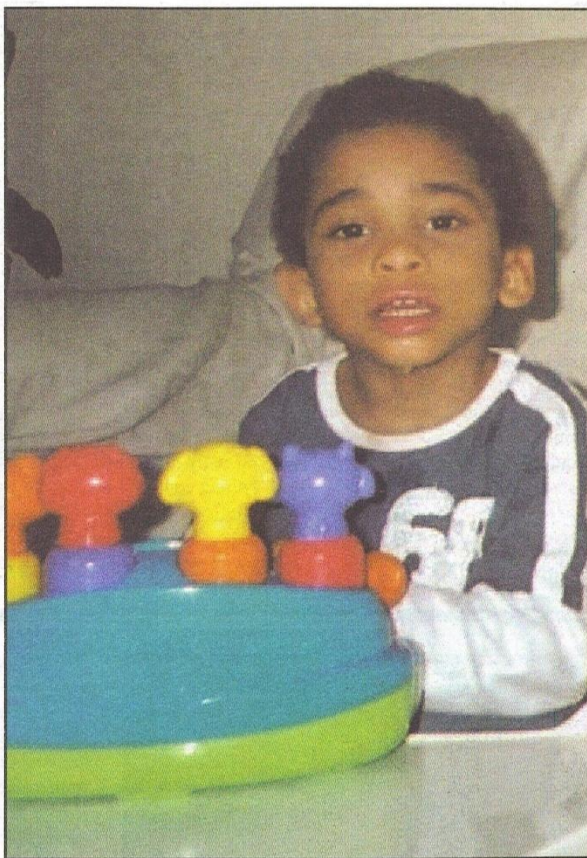

Zachary attends mainstream nursery, where he has made excellent progress, and the plan is for him to attend a school which can meet his special needs in September 2006.

At present, Zachary has no verbal communication, although he is making more specific sounds than before and his communication is developing through facial expressions and eye pointing. He also touches people to get their attention and has recently started to use some Makaton signs. Zachary delights in interacting with others.

At his birth mother's request, Zachary became looked after in late 2004. She agrees with the plan for permanency. His carer feels Zachary has great potential and very much enjoys looking after him.

Ethnic and cultural descent: black African-Caribbean, baptised in the Church of England

Family needed: a one or two-parent adoptive family, although permanent fostering would also be considered, preferably African-Caribbean, or able to understand and support Zachary's special cultural identity, who would have an understanding of his disability, could accept the uncertainty of his future development, support his complex needs and help him reach his full potential

Contact: letterbox contact is envisaged with his birth parents

Legal status: freeing order

Support: includes a Disability Living Allowance and possible adoption financial support

Jerelle FEBRUARY 1997 thrives on individual attention.

She has settled readily with her foster carers, enjoying the company of their grown-up children, and is developing social skills and friendships. Jerelle's favourite activities are singing, dancing and drawing. She takes pride in her appearance. She is also very active and loves Marathon Club, Brownies and all outdoor activities, including trips to the seaside. Jerelle has engaged well in school where she is just below average academically, but tries hard. She is good at reading and enjoys books. Jerelle may benefit from therapy to help address difficult issues from her past. She is close to her sisters, who are being placed separately, and will value continued contact.

Ethnic and cultural descent: birth mother: white English; birth father: black Caribbean (Jamaican)

Family needed: an adoptive family, ideally of similar mixed ethnicity or black Caribbean, who could offer Jerelle lots of affection and attention

Contact: letterbox contact is envisaged with her birth parents and half-brother, as well as direct contact with her two sisters

Legal status: care order, freeing order applied for Support: includes possible adoption financial support N 8

Stacey MAY 2004 is described by her foster carer as a happy, playful, cuddly affectionate child, with a beautiful smile, who is easy to manage. She has been living with the same carer since birth and has formed a positive attachment to her. Stacey has a developmental delay, impaired social interaction and communication impairment. It is possible she may be on the autism spectrum, though no firm diagnosis has been made. Stacey is making gradual but definite developmental progress. She is responding well to the support and encouragement she is receiving and can now stand holding on to furniture. She is at the stage of exploratory play and enjoys finger painting and nursery rhymes. She enjoys a structured routine.

Ethnic and cultural descent: white English

Family needed: a white adoptive family, either a single carer with a strong support network, who is willing to accept the uncertainty of Stacey's development

Contact: letterbox contact is envisaged with her birth parents

Legal status: freeing order

Support: includes a Disability Living Allowance and possible adoption financial support
